Governance Built on Accountability

At BASCORP, we view governance as more than a framework of policies and controls. It is a fundamental discipline that defines how authority is exercised, how decisions are challenged, how risks are managed, and how accountability is maintained.

Our governance framework is built around the following principles:

- Accountability — Authority is matched by clearly defined responsibility. Decision-makers remain accountable for their actions, judgements, and outcomes.
- Effective Oversight — Appropriate governance bodies provide direction, scrutiny, constructive challenge, and independent judgement over management, material decisions, and significant risks.
- Integrity — We conduct our affairs with honesty, ethical discipline, and professional responsibility.
- Transparency — We promote accurate, timely, and meaningful communication to support informed decision-making and stakeholder confidence.
- Prudent Risk Management — We identify and assess material risks proactively and manage them within clearly defined parameters.
- Robust Internal Controls — We maintain controls designed to safeguard assets, support regulatory compliance, strengthen operational discipline, and protect the integrity of our business.
- Responsible Decision-Making — We consider commercial objectives alongside long-term sustainability, risk, stakeholder interests, and the broader responsibilities of the Group.
- Continuous Improvement — We regularly assess and strengthen our governance practices to ensure they remain effective, proportionate, and aligned with the Group's evolving activities.

Oversight and Accountability

BASCORP maintains a clear distinction between management responsibility and governance oversight. Management is responsible for executing strategy, managing operations, and delivering agreed objectives. Appropriate governance bodies provide oversight, challenge management where necessary, review material risks and decisions, and ensure that the organisation remains aligned with its strategic and fiduciary responsibilities.

This balance between authority, accountability, and oversight is central to our governance philosophy. It enables decisive leadership while ensuring that significant decisions are appropriately scrutinised and that responsibility for outcomes is clearly established.

For BASCORP, governance is not a compliance exercise or a separate layer of administration. It is embedded in how we lead, how we make decisions, how we manage risk, and how we create and protect long-term value.
